

Chapel Treats Patrons To A Night of Horrors

IN TRANCE... Lucy, portrayed by JoAnn Gungura of Torrance, is put into a trance by Count Dracula, played by Albert Ryan of Redondo Beach, in a scene from Chapel Theatre's production of the thriller, "Dracula." Performances, scheduled Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays, will continue through Nov. 26. Reservations are available at the box office.

A uniformed Red Cross nurse will greet you at the first aid station, help you find your way through the cobwebs, and be on hand should you need assistance during the evening.

It's all part of the trickery and illusion which is being staged weekends at Chapel Theatre, 4164 Pacific Coast Hwy., as "Dracula" comes to life on the stage.

Barbara Vrooman directs the production, which opened on Halloween weekend and will close Sunday, Nov. 26. Cast as Count Dracula is Albert Ryan of Redondo Beach. Wallace Johnson of Long Beach is cast as Professor Van Helsing, the gentleman who finally breaks Dracula's power.

Others in the cast include Billy Creamer of Palos Verdes as the crazed Renfield; JoAnn Gungura of Torrance as Lucy, the young girl who is under Dracula's influence; Harold Hoffenberg of Redondo Beach as Dr. Seward, Lucy's father; Al Taylor of Redondo Beach as Lucy's fiance, and Rene Galleran of Palos Verdes as the maid.

The attendant Butterworth is portrayed by Ed Anderson of Westchester.

Steve Sands, a Hermosa Beach resident, is assistant director and Phyllis Palmer designed the sets. Production manager Doris Johnson heads a backstage crew which includes Bill Adams, Beverly Adams, George Bingham and Carol Brannon, Irene Petty, and Hazel Anderson.

Don Burton handles the special effects — and there are plenty of them, while Eric Hernandez is the sound technician.

Reservations may be made for any Friday, Saturday, or Sunday during the next three weeks. Curtain is 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday.
